Chester, Pa., April 10.—A terrific explosion at the great plant of the Eddystone Ammunitions Corporation at Eddystone, Pa., a mile from this city, is reported to have killed from 125 to 250 persons and injured at least 300 more.

A railroad official asserts that nearly 300 were killed, but this estimate cannot be confirmed.

The explosion occurred soon after 10 o'clock in the pellet room of the shrapnel building where about 100 girls were employed putting the finishing touches on shells. In a building adjoining approximately 30,000 shells were stored. A second explosion demolished this building and scattered the shells in every direction.

Immediately calls were sent for outside aid and physicians, firemen and policemen from surrounding towns arrived in great numbers. The buildings in which the explosions occurred caught fire and by strenuous work the flames which burst in the two houses was confined to these structures.

Meanwhile charred bodies were being pulled from the wreckage and injured persons were being picked up and taken to Chester a mile away. The two main hospitals of the city were soon filled and others injured were taken to the Fifth regiment armory and the tabernacle recently erected here for religious services.

No official of the company was found who could tell anything about the explosion. There were whispers of a plot to destroy the plant. If there was a plot, no more effective riot could have been selected for the work. It was near the Delaware river bank and well isolated.

The plant was originally constructed soon after the European war started by Baldwin locomotive interests. Recently it was taken over by the Russian government which has been employing about 10,000 people making shells.

The place has been thoroughly guarded night and day and after dark immense searchlights made every portion of the ground as light as day. In addition secret service men and detectives worked in the various departments disguised as munition makers.

At the undertaking place of Coroner White there are 80 bodies, 79 being those of girls. Thousands of girls were employed at the plant, most of them coming from Philadelphia, 10 miles away. They were attracted by the high wages paid.

Officials of the Eddystone Ammunitions corporation this afternoon said the damage to the plant was not serious. Announcement was made that all departments of the concern will resume operations tomorrow morning with the exception of the box, packing and base charging departments. All departments, including these will resume work on April 24.

HAD RUSSIAN CONTRACT.

(ASSOCIATED PRESS TELEGRAM)
New York, April 10.—Information was received at the offices of the Midvale Steel company in this city that the explosions occurred in the powder department of the Eddystone Ammunition company.

The Eddystone Ammunition company is understood here to be an independent corporation and is engaged in manufacturing and loading shells for the Russian government. The company has no connection with either the Midvale Steel company or the Remington Arms company.

LINER NEW YORK HITS MINE CLOSE TO ENGLISH PORT

(ASSOCIATED PRESS TELEGRAM)
Washington, April 10.—The American liner New York struck a mine at 7:40 p. m. Monday, five miles off Liverpool bar. No casualties were reported. The vessel later proceeded to Liverpool.

Consul Washington at Liverpool reporting the incident to the state department today said:

"The American liner New York

struck a mine 7:40 p. m. last night, five miles off Liverpool bar. Company reports passenger landed at Liverpool except four who are still on the ship. No casualties. Vessel proceeded under her own steam and is now (1 o'clock this morning) entering her dock."

NAVY GUNNERS ABOARD.

(ASSOCIATED PRESS TELEGRAM)
New York, April 10.—The American steamship New York left this port on March 29 for Liverpool with 58 passengers, cargo and mail. The passengers included seven American citizens. She carried a naval crew of gunners and was armed. The ship's crew of 234 men included 144 Americans.

Patriotism Marks Sessions of Woodmen of World in State Convention Here

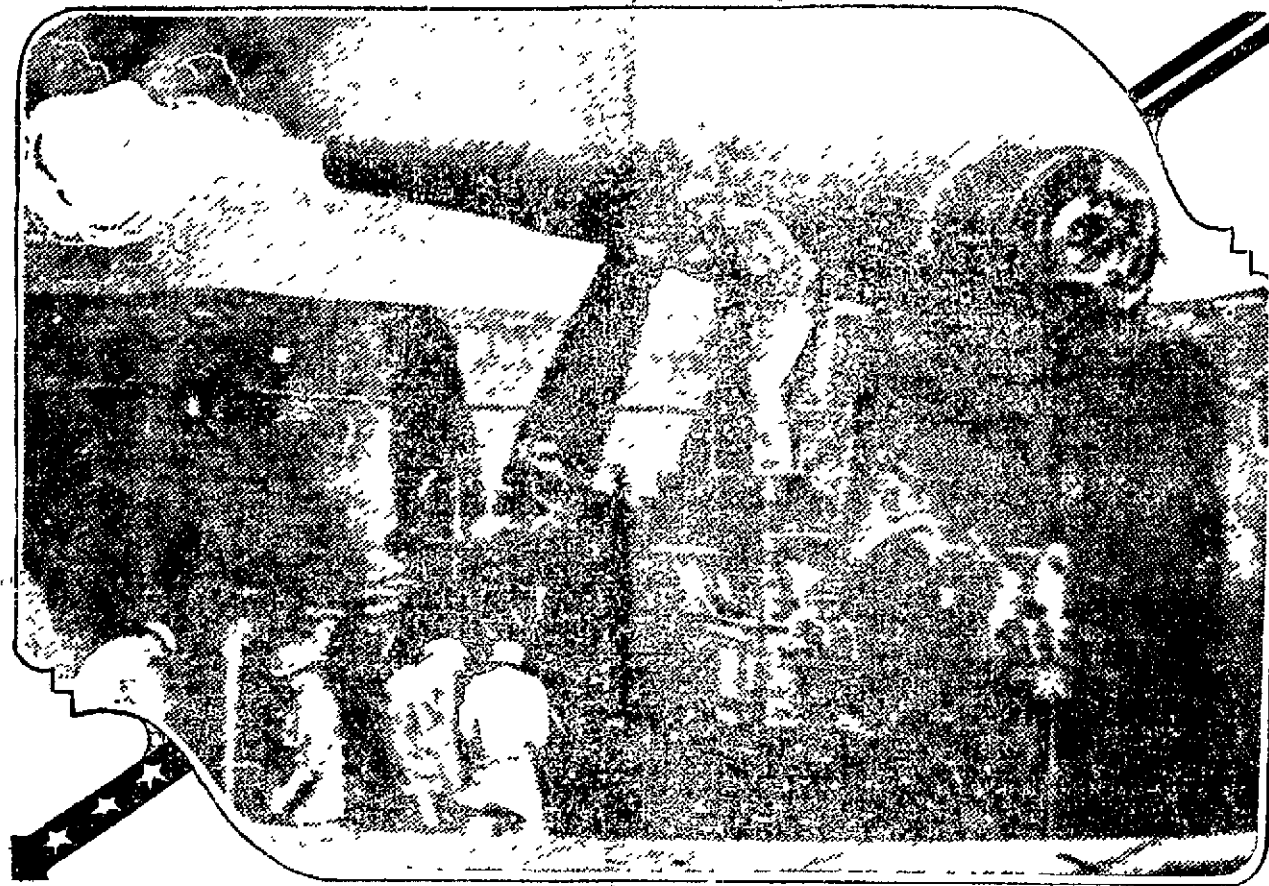

The seventh biennial convention of the Head Camp, Jurisdiction of Ohio, Woodmen of the World, convened in this city this morning with nearly four hundred delegates in attendance. Sessions are being held in the new K. of P. hall in East Main street, which is handsomely decorated for the occasion. Head Consul George B. Fulton of North Baltimore called the meeting to order and delivered the annual address after which he introduced Mayor Royal C. Bigbee, who welcomed the delegates and presented them with the key of the city, it being highly embellished in gold and about two feet in length.

Mayor Bigbee stated that he hardly thought it would be necessary to use the key as he was sure the gates all over the city would be opened to them and trusted that all would have a good time during their stay in the city.

George H. Mosser, manager of the Chamber of Commerce, was next introduced and told the visitors of the points of interest about the city, referring also to our numerous industries and our wonderful mountains. The Country Club, and Mountbuilders' Park.

BRITISH CAPTURE 9000 PRISONERS BY GREAT DRIVE

Chain Around St. Quentin, Key to Hindenburg Line is Tightened

(ASSOCIATED PRESS TELEGRAM)
London, April 10.—The British have made a further advance north of Bagdad, the war office announces. They have captured the Balad station on the Bagdad-Samarah railway, and the town of Herbe.

(ASSOCIATED PRESS TELEGRAM)
London, April 10.—The British offensive between Lens and St. Quentin with which the spring operations have been opened and which is still in progress has proved even more successful than earlier accounts indicated.

General Sir Douglas Haig today reports that yesterday's captures exceeded 9,000 men, while 40 guns fell into the hands of his troops.

The Canadians, who had one of the hardest bits of the front to contend with, are now in complete occupation of the famous Vimy ridge, even its eastern slopes having been cleared of Germans. The Canadians also have repulsed German counter-attacks.

These reactions by the Germans indicate the importance they attach to this position, whence the conquerors look down over the plain of Douai. With Vimy ridge gone, the whole German line covering the French towns and industrial districts to the north becomes a wavering one and any leisurely retreat the Germans may have planned is made uncertain and precarious.

With the capture of the famous ridge the British made a considerable stride along the road to Douai, while the capture of the high ground northwest of St. Quentin tightens the chain which the Anglo-French forces are drawing around that town. The British also captured the village of Fambouss.

A German diversion southeast of Ypres according to General Haig's report, met with no success.

King George sent the following message today to Field Marshal Sir Douglas Haig, commander of the British armies on the western front:

"The whole empire will rejoice at the news of yesterday's successful operations. Canada will be proud of her troops that the taking of the coveted Vimy ridge has fallen to the lot of her troops. I heartily congratulate you and all who have taken part in this splendid achievement."

The news of the successful opening of the new British offensive has stirred intense interest and high hope among the people throughout the country.

Whatever the enemy may have claimed as to the retreat in the Somme sector having been pre-arranged and strategical it is contended

Rio Janeiro, Brazil, April 10.—The official report regarding the sinking of the Brazilian steamship Parana, which the government has been awaiting before taking definite action toward Germany, is believed to have been received today from the legation in Paris. It is expected the government this afternoon will sever relations with Germany.

GERMANS IN BOAT WITH GASOLINE OFF COAST OF GEORGIA

(ASSOCIATED PRESS TELEGRAM)
Atlanta, Ga., April 10.—A launch manned by a German speaking crew and carrying more than 500 gallons of gasoline was captured several days ago off the Georgia coast and taken to Fernandina, Fla., according to a letter received here by Charles H. Arnov, state game and fish commissioner.

The capture was made by a revenue cutter, Mr. Arnov said, adding that it had caused much speculation as to whether there was any truth in reports of German submarines in the gulf of Mexico.

DENISON TAKES UP TRAINING OF ARMY OFFICERS

(Special to The Advocate)
Granville, O., April 10.—President Clark W. Chamberlain announced in chapel this morning that military training in Denison University would start Thursday morning of this week. Major Orion of Cleveland, representing the officers' training school work of the federal government, will be in Granville Wednesday night and deliver a lecture, outlining the details of the course.

This new course, which is being adopted by all the leading colleges of the nation, is elective, not compulsory but the expressions heard from members of the student body indicate that there will be a rush to take care of the applicants for instruction under this subject.

Physical Director Walter J. Livingston, athletic coach and instructor in the university, will have charge of the work until a regular officer is assigned by the United States government to take over the instruction.

The nation's need at this time is not so much enlisted soldiers but efficient officers to command them. It is with a view of supplying this need that colleges have undertaken military training.

VOLUNTEERS CAN NOT ENLIST AS UNITS OF GUARD

War Dept. Announces Plans For Development of State Militia

Responsibility For Organizing More Troops is On Federal Government

(ASSOCIATED PRESS TELEGRAM)
Washington, April 10.—Plans for the national guard were definitely outlined today by the war department.

Adjutant General of the states have been informed that no new units of the guard will be recognized except such special forces as may be necessary to complete divisional organization of the present establishment and those which have armories, have been recruited in definite localities and have other indications of "probable permanency."

The purpose of the department is to prevent organization of volunteer regiments under the guise of national guard units and which would not, in all probability last beyond the duration of the war.

An official circular issued today points out that the present emergency is one which cannot be met by the regular forces and the national guard alone, and adds that existing law "does not contemplate that the federal government shall call upon the states to form more national guard troops in order that they may be called into the federal service."

"The laws," the circular continues, "placed this responsibility of organizing more troops strictly for federal use upon the federal government, where it properly belongs."

State authorities and national guard officers should concentrate their energies and attention upon organizing, properly equipping and training their existing organizations and recruiting them up to maximum strength authorized.

NEW RECRUITING ORDERS.
Columbus, April 10.—Minor physical defects no longer will bar applicants from joining the U. S. army, according to orders received by the local recruiting station today.

The new orders provide that the only education requirement shall be the applicants ability to read and write.

The age limit is reduced from 18 to 16 and is increased to 40. Parents consent could be required for boys between 16 and 18, where as under the old regulations, such consent was necessary for boys between 18 and 21. Applicants under 16, if sufficiently matured, will be accepted under the new orders.

Newark Residents Show Patriotism in Great Mass Meeting

Thousands Unable to Gain Admittance to Tabernacle Where Fervent Patriotic Ad-

MASSES THRILLED BY STIRRING MUSIC AND SPLENDID ADDRESSES

Thousands of American Flags Carried In Parade In Which Practically Every Organization In Newark Was Represented In Procession—Impressive Ceremony When Boys of '61 Turned Over Their Arms to Present Generation For Defense of the Nation—Meeting Sends President Wilson Resolution Pledging Loyalty and Confidence In Course

One of the greatest patriotic demonstrations which has ever taken place in the state, at least since the great civil war, was witnessed in this city last evening in the wonderful outpouring of the citizens of this city and vicinity to pay tribute to the stars and stripes, to our country and our President, in the crisis which is now confronting us.

Early in the evening, long before the hour appointed for the forming of the parade, the downtown streets and around the square began filling with people all wearing the national emblem and hundreds carrying small American flags. The streets were lined with autos, cars were crowded and a spirit of patriotism filled the air which inspired everyone with the knowledge that Newark and Licking county would do its full share in upholding our national honor, that no matter what might be the tribute required, our citizenry will have just cause to be proud of the part which we will take in bringing about world's peace.

At 7:30 o'clock patriotic societies, civic and fraternal bodies formed in North Park Place, Second and East Main streets and headed by the Old Guard Drum corps began the march to the Bromley tabernacle along the canal bank between Fifth and Sixth streets where the meeting was to be held. Previous to this however, the Buckeye band rendered a number of selections at various points around the square.

The drum corps was followed by the Old Guard, gray haired veterans who saw service in the civil war, then followed members of the G. A. R., Union Veterans League, Spanish War Veterans, Sons and Daughters of Veterans, W. R. Corps, Boy Scouts and members of the National Guard who have just returned from the border. Then came the famous Buckeye Band with its inspiring music and uniformed fraternal societies, K. of P., Knights of St. John, Knights of Columbus, Colored K. of P., Loyal Order of Moose. Next in line was a big delegation of organized labor from the Welfare plant, B. and O. mechanics and glass blowers, all carrying American flags, with large flags and banners also, carried by members of the order. Next were members of the Trades Council, Typographical Union, No. 69 Pressman's Union, Carpenters Union and other labor organizations. Then came the various fraternal orders, Odd Fellows, Masons, Eagles and the Elks with citizens and autos bringing up the rear. Seats had been reserved in the tabernacle for the marching organizations. Local post-office employees were in line, headed by Master Russell Loughman as a drummer boy.

The tabernacle had been handsomely decorated with bunting and flags while above the latter hung portraits of Washington, Lincoln, McKinley and Wilson. Above these was a large illuminated electric flag, the chair of 500 members occupied seats on tiers running to the top of the building from the speaker's platform. The crowd began filling in by the hundreds and was excellently handled by the large corps of ushers.

A marching club of Roumanians carrying flags and a large banner on which was inscribed "We Sons of Roumania, adopting the United States of America, both fighting for Truth, Liberty and Humanity," was given a position near the stage. A large delegation of school boys and newswomen was also given front seats and equal number stood throughout the meeting near the platform.

The building, which seats nearly 4,000, soon filled and hundreds stood in the rear, while hundreds

Bromley Speakers Tour the County to Conduct Services; Shop Meetings Held in City

At noon today the first country trip by the Bromley party was taken by automobile. A number of local people accompanied the members of the party on the journey. The first stop was made at Johnstown where a service was held. Alexandria was the second stop for a service and Granville, the third place.

The evangelist did not accompany the party on the trip but attended to detail work in the town during the day. There were a number of automobiles used on the journey.

Rev. B. H. Shaddock of the Bromley party spoke at Johnstown, the first stop this afternoon and based his remarks on Isaiah 24th chapter and the eighth verse. "It shall be as when a hungry man dreameth, and behold he eateth; he is awake and his soul is empty."

Dr. Shaddock said in part:

"I knew an old soldier who was one time near to being famished, and faint with hunger he layed down on the hard ground and fell asleep, and in his dreams he sat at the old deal table in the old homestead, stuffed his lean ribs with fried chicken and cream biscuit and buttermilk and pumpkin pie till the neighbors were scandalized and his wife begged him to stop, but he ate on and on and then awakened to find himself empty, and the bed of weeds marked the place where he had feasted."

So it is with a hungry world. With a fever of inextinguishable desire they scramble for a home; they try to satisfy their hunger with money or honor or applause or sport or fashion. They wear themselves out trying to fatten themselves on chaff and froth and soap bubbles. They heap together what they cannot eat and wallow in it only to rise up hungry and fight for more and at last, alas, a broken piece in the sod and a wreath of faded flowers marks the place where the struggle ended and the hunger went on forever.

Charles H. Wilson had charge of the singing in the different towns where meetings were held.

Shop meetings under the auspices of the Bromley Evangelistic party were started today. The purpose is to hold shop meetings throughout the town to be held by members of the party and there will be local men accompanying them.

At 11:30 o'clock today W. W. Shannon spoke at the Burke Golf company plant and at 12 o'clock he held a meeting at the Halter factory, Rev. P. O. Ort of the Maple Avenue Christian Union church, assisted.

Tomorrow there will be a meeting held at the B. and O. shops. Mr. Shannon will be the speaker and will be accompanied by Rev. A. B. Cox. At the Rolling Mills at 11:45 tomorrow there will be a shop meeting held and Rev. S. B. Goff, assistant evangelist will have charge and Rev. J. A. Lytle will assist.

Six shop meetings have been scheduled for the week thus far. It is likely that more than fifty shop meetings will be held in Newark during the life of the Bromley campaign.

There will be no services held in the Bromley Tabernacle on Sunday morning. The members of the Bromley party, however, will preach. (Continued on Page 11, Col. 4.)

NEWARK RESIDENTS SHOW PATRIOTISM IN GREAT MASS MEET

disappointed were turned away. As the old soldiers and drum corps came marching up the aisle they were greeted with thunderous cheers and the waving of flags. It caused the old heroes to stand erect while a glow of pride spread over their countenances, proud in the fact that they had a part in the saving of their country and that they, now, even at their advanced years were ready and eager to do their full share of whatever line of duty they may be called upon to perform.

The bugle call was sounded and then Mayor R. G. Bigbee, himself an old veteran, stepped to the front of the platform and delivered the address of welcome. Mayor Bigbee stated that he had never addressed such a large crowd before, that he had talked to fair-sized crowds but never an acre of people. He had never witnessed such a manifestation of patriotism, that the old flag had never touched the ground before and there was no fear that it would do so now. He then bade all welcome to the exercises of the evening, introducing Mr. F. L. Beggs, president of the Chamber of Commerce, as the chairman of the evening.

Mr. Beggs in his introductory remarks stated that it was a distinguished honor to preside over a meeting of that nature, that we were there to affirm our loyalty to our country and pledge support to the leader of our nation. He believed that a spirit of patriotism never surpassed was in the hearts of our people which only awaits the call of our leader. He then introduced the Rev. Father B. M. O'Boylan, pastor of the St. Francis de Sales church, who delivered the supplication. The reverend father was eloquent in deed as he stood before the vast multitude invoking the divine blessing, and his resonant voice could be heard in every part of the large building. His prayer in full follows:

We pray Thee, O God of might, wisdom and mercy, to look upon Thy people here assembled and upon this our beloved country in the hour of its trial, and deign to hear our humble supplication for guidance and grace to do Thy holy will in all things as it becomes a Christian people. Enlighten our minds with the rays of Thy divine truth and teach our hearts to love one another, so that we may all march together in unity and strength. Drive far from us all racial and religious prejudice so that we may be a people bound together in the one indomitable spirit of loyalty to our government and in deathless adherence to its laws. Guide Thou our chief executive, whose hands are entrusted with the helm of the Ship of State that he may direct its course in safety through the billows of war and save it from shipwreck amid the rocks and barriers that rise above the surface or lie hidden beneath the waves on treacherous shoals and bars.

Knowing that all the evils and reigns of terror that have harassed the human race have sprung from the spirit of pride, ambition, lust of gain, selfishness and injustice, and that while both high and low are beset with the same temptations, still as it is the power that have the greatest opportunity for good or for evil, and as it is from the abuse of power and allowing themselves to be controlled by such a spirit, that such things have happened, therefore, we beseech Thee to check the insolence of those in authority, whether in Church or State, who forget that all power comes from God and that they are only as stewards accountable to God and to the people, and not lords of eminent domain. Let them, for their own safety as well as for the safety of people, never forget that their first duty is towards the people entrusted to their care; that they should be to them as a staff, a support and a good shepherd and not as tyrants or despots worrying them and using them as slaves or chattels; that they are therefore, obliged to look to the comfort, the welfare and happiness of the people first, and that in doing so they will find their own peace and happiness. Teach the people, on the other hand, to be obedient to those in authority, but to be always mindful that, as a whole, they are obliged to guard the rights of every member of the government and that, therefore, they must never give, or allow to be given to any man or any body of men any more power than that which the Constitution of this Republic stands for.

Give prudence and courage and wisdom to our representatives in Congress that in all things their deliberations may rebound to good of our people, through just laws for the maintenance of order, the advancement of industry, the suppression of crime, the promotion of virtue and the preservation of equal and well-balanced liberty. Fill the souls of those who shall lead our armies, with the spirit of the men of renown whose names are recorded in Holy Writ, that they may rise to the high plane of patriotism and do no deed that would bring a stain on their noble names. Recall in their minds the lives of the patriots of our country in her struggle for freedom in the past, that so they may emulate their valiant deeds in the present. Let an evil spirit tempt us to utter words of reproach against the loyal children here among us or their fathers descended from the heroic race arrayed against us, but rather, let all our fellow citizens encourage unity and brotherly love that we may be a nation not merely United in name but, above all, united in deeds of valor and magnanimity. Bless the matchless emblem of our Republic that call forth from the depths of every heart the deepest love of country, that so its beautiful bright stars may be an inspiration to rouse us to action and point the way to the heights of victory. Open the eyes of all that they may look around and see the glories of this peerless nation in mountain and valley, in lake and river, in city and country, in the peace of home and in the camp of the battlefield, and that they may never for a moment forget that this is truly a spot worth fighting for. Teach us to understand that this is the only land of Promise of the modern world where the human race has every opportunity to work out its highest destiny and that to it alone we owe our first love, and our first and fullest allegiance. From the shaggy brows of the rugged Rockies; from the pine clad peaks of Kentucky, North Carolina, East Tennessee and the unconquerable passes of the Virginias; from the rock-embattled coast of New England; from the lake encircled highlands of Maine, New Hampshire and New York; from the lowlands and the rolling prairies, east and west, north and south, the spirit of freedom is calling the manhood and womanhood of our nation to rise and to battle Pro Deo Et Pro Patria—For God and for Country.

Strong Son of God, hear our prayers and nerve our arms for the strife that we may manfully respond to the call!—Light of the world, undimmed and unsetting, Oh shine each mist away; Banish the fear, the falsehood and the fretting. Be our unchanging day!

Then came a touching ceremony, the laying down and stacking of arms of the boys of '61 and the taking of them up by the new army of 1917. This part of the program was in charge of Major F. G. Steele, who was also marshal of the parade.

A detail of Old Guard in full dress bearing arms stood on the left of Chairman Beggs while on his right were members of the National Guard in khaki uniforms just fresh from service on the Mexican border. The old guard was in charge of Capt. Mathew Bausch while the younger soldiers were in charge of his son, Major Steele gave the command, Capt. Bausch executed and the guns were received by the young men at the command of the captain's son, Major Steele then called for a salute to the flag and the entire audience arose and gave the salute.

A selection by the drum corps followed and the audience sang "America," assisted by the band and the big chorus. Next a telegram was read by Chairman Beggs from Congressman Wm. A. Ashbrook, at Washington, and which was received with cheers, as follows:

The die has been cast, I trust wisely and well. It therefore behooves every man, woman and child who believes in liberty and freedom, with solid unity to rally to the defense of Old Glory in thought, word and deed that the perpetuity of the principles for which Americans have ever fought may be preserved and the cause of humanity encircle the globe. We fight not for ourselves alone but for the liberty, justice and freedom of all. May we rededicate ourselves to the spirit of '76. That the citizens of Newark and Licking county will, I have no doubt.

WILLIAM A. ASHBROOK.
Attorney Ray Martin was next introduced, his subject being announced as "The Stars and Stripes," and he spoke in part as follows:

Fellow Citizens of Newark and Licking County:
We are met this evening at a momentous time in the history of our country. After a period of 20 years of peace and prosperity, 20 years of industrial and commercial development and expansion, the like of which our country has not known; after nearly three years of war in the old war and after reading and hearing of the horrors of modern warfare, after this observation of the old world a conflagration we are met tonight to consider not the war in the old world, not the war between other countries but we are here to face with the crisis of our own.

The Stars and Stripes—what tender, glorious and sacred associations cluster around the very name of that old flag. Conceived as it was and dedicated as it was to the principle of liberty on which our nation was founded it stands as the symbol for the highest and purest principle of patriotism, freedom and liberty under law ever conceived in the mind of man.

Not only was its conception along these lofty lines and upon these high ideas but it was raised and borne aloft by the sturdy brave and courageous hearts of '76 but their sons and grandsons later responded to the call of that flag to the existence of the principles of liberty and it was shown in '61 that the blood of '76 still ran through the hearts of the American men.

Yes, later in 1899, after a period of peace our country again was called into war and the sons of '61 marched out in the same spirit that had moved their fathers to defend that flag.

And now tonight, my friends, it must be gratifying to these old soldiers of the line, the veterans of '61, to feel the pulse, the heart beat of the men of these later times and to see that they are responding to the flag with the same readiness as shown by them in the trying times of '61 and '65.

And what a glorious tradition this flag suggests in its conception and in early history it has been the moving subject around which eloquence wove its magic art and which moved the hearts of its people to deeds of heroism and self-sacrifice.

Wherever that flag has gone it has inspired the hopes of mankind it has promised better conditions. Whether sailing on the trackless sea, in the broad part or raised in foreign land the American citizen has been able as he gazed on its stars and stripes floating in the breeze to read in it the full history of its nation's glory, read from it the inspiration of patriotism and to draw from it such a full sense of security that, whenever in the right, standing under its guardian folds he has been able to defy the world. In its red he saw the blood of martyrs sacrificed on the altar of liberty; in the white he saw the purity and sanctity of the high aims of the freedom; in the blue and the stars he saw that firmament to which the dying patriot wuffs his last prayer, when expiring on the field of battle—the home of him under whose direction this country, we hope, will carry out and achieve the high aims for which it was instituted. Our stars and stripes flash the hope of higher things and promise of better times. Tyrants and despots only hate it. Those who sigh and long for the triumphant of righteousness and truth salute and love it, as we do this evening, and in conclusion, my friends, I propose for this, that we who remain always for the tripartite of righteousness and truth salute and love that grand old flag—our own Star Spangled Banner.

The chorus then rendered "The Battle Hymn of the Republic" and the following telegram was read from Governor James M. Cox:

I regret very much that the press of official business prevents my assembling with the patriotic citizenship of Newark tonight. The war which has engulfed us is not of our making, but it threatens our rights, and we would be false to every treasured tradition handed us by our fathers, if we did not assert the strength of the republic not only to bring an end to the terrorism directed against us, but to remove the possibility of war mad dynasties. It was a Glimpse of the unbroken liberty of the wilderness that inspired the picture of American freedom. Russia saw the blessing that we enjoy and made herself free to gain them. We catch a view now of democracies supplanting monarchies and of peace and brotherhood displacing war and hate. Our fight is in behalf of the German people not against them. History never decorated a nation's standard with more unselfish purpose and soldiers never pledged their lives for a nobler cause. Through our veins runs the blood of men who made America free, inspired by their example and our experience we will help to make the world free.

JAMES M. COX.
The reading of the governor's message to the people of Licking county was followed by prolonged cheering and a male quartette composed of John Mazie, Howell Hughes, Carl Myers and W. D. Welker sang "America Triumphant." Phil B. Smythe was introduced as the next orator, his subject being "Patriotism."

Patriotism in America—That is the question.

The Patriot is he who stands for his country right or wrong. This is necessarily true because if every citizen is to determine as to his loyalty to his country upon his own conception of whether his government is right or wrong as to its policies, then disloyalty might stalk unchecked through the land and at times treason might be rampant.

Patriotism in America is not of the same stuff as is blind adherence to a king, an emperor, or to a dynasty. What is patriotism in America is answered by answering the question, What is a traitor in America?

A traitor in America is he or she who in time of war sympathizes with the enemy of America, and gives to that enemy aid and comfort.

A quasi traitor is he who in time of war cries peace, peace; when there can be no peace only by the winning of battles.

A Patriot is he who actually loves the country best which fosters him, protects his home, his family, his friend, and his fortune.

A citizen who has all these privileges and benefits and is disloyal, is an ingrate whose ingratitude is sharper than an enemy's sword. Why is it that patriotism, this almost universal instinct, the purest and noblest sentiment that can warm the heart of man, for which more men have given their lives than for any other cause, which counts more martyrs than even religion itself—this potent sentiment which has produced so great and splendid deeds of heroic bravery and of unselfish devotion, which has inspired art, stimulated literature, and furthered science—which has fostered liberty and won independence—in short which has made civilization—can be perverted and made the excuse for murder and wanton outrage, and exalt arbitrary tyranny?

Although patriotism—the love of country—is as old as the history of the nations, the form of this universal feeling is due to theories of government, and of duty to government.

We believe that true patriotism cannot be founded on the accident of birth place alone, else one born at sea would have no country but the ocean, and no countrymen but the fishes and monsters of the deep. Americans believe the justification of patriotism must be found in something more than an attachment to the soil—a fad for growth that we believe it depends on the pursuit of common interests, the defense of common independence and the love of common liberties—that it is the national character formed under these conditions.

Patriotism as understood by the German—patriotism of a king, a Kaiser, of an aristocracy, or of a privileged class, has indeed in times past influenced the history of the (Continued on Page 3, Col. 1.)

BRITISH TAKE 9,000 PRISONERS BY GREAT DRIVE

that their recoil before the blow delivered in the Arras-Lens region cannot be explained in such manner. It is urged that there is a possible voluntary element in this retirement and that there can be no dispute as to who took the initiative.

A new chapter in the conflict on the western front has begun, and whether or not it is to mark the beginning of a decisive battle it is bound to lead to result of the highest importance, it is claimed.

The main feature of the battle thus far on which attention has been focused, is the capture of Vim ridge. The importance of this series of heights, which dominate the plain from an elevation of 400 to 500 feet has been recognized throughout the war and great sacrifices have been recorded as justifiable if they result in its possession.

The French and Germans fought fiercely for control of the ridge in the summer of 1917, both sides suffering heavy losses but in the end, the Germans held the main portion of the position. Later the British took over the French line and were ousted by the Germans from the part of the ridge which had been won by their predecessors.

The fighting goes on over a front of about 50 miles, roughly from Lens to St. Quentin, the core of attack around the north of Arras. As far as information goes everything is going well for the British and justifies sanguine hopes but the comments to-day generally include a warning not to allow these hopes to run too high.

The enemy is known to have great reserves at hand and an iron composition binds him to make every effort to avoid defeat. The papers warn the country that it should await the event in a spirit of sober expectation and that it is not the time for exuberant boasting.

A greenish glow in the front report the fighting continuing beyond throughout last night with the British offensive gradually extending northward, there being fighting in the morning in the direction of La Bassée.

Some 150 officers are among the prisoners already taken, these include four five battalion commanders. Although 40 guns captured is the official count the number is expected to reach 100 as figures while the British continue to push mortars, for by throwing high guns and ammunition also have been captured. The Germans desired a great quantity of supplies at the last minute to prevent their capture.

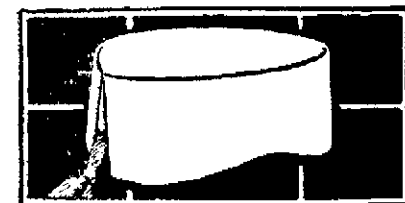

The weather continues bitterly cold, with snow flurries, but the British forces are in sheepskin, and are being kept well fed.

world; but the patriotism which has entered into the life blood of a nation founded on the liberty, and responsibility of the citizen, is the force which will maintain the stability and stimulate the progress of civilization, and safeguard human rights, in this world in the ages to come.

Loyalty to a monarch must be divorced from loyalty to country, that civilization may advance in this world.

God bless the United States of America; and long live the principles for which it stands; and, as a result of this world tragedy, that it will extend the blessings of liberty and equality to the few remaining dark corners of the earth.

Such patriotism involves duties, and these duties rise in connection with the domestic relations of the citizen to his country, as well as in all that concerns the attitude of the country toward foreign nations. Our obligations do not end with obedience to laws, and payment of taxes. It means taking our full share of public work and responsibility, in upholding those entrusted with authority, and giving them our true allegiance.

It seems that such are inevitable when a Democracy is called upon suddenly to act in a crisis. We must all of us exercise patience, forbearance and keep alive our patriotism, and show our patriotism, express it, not once in a while, as tonight, but every day.

How can the native-born citizen complain of the foreign-born, law make citizen when he sets him so poor an example, unless he feels a thrill at the sight of his flag and instinctively leaps to his feet at the sound of his national anthem.

We have been too patient with crazy, hair-brained theories, and conceptions of one's duty to his country, until, unless we brace up, there is danger of losing the reality of the best government ever formed, in a vain reaching for an impossible dream.

In the end democracy will prove itself as efficient in war, as it has been in peace, and democracy has been a marvelous success—more helpful, more beneficial to the human race than any other political system yet devised by man. To it we owe the freedom of thought, the freedom of conscience, the freedom of speech which exists today.

A La Polle by Bryan by their conduct in this hour of trial, no matter how honest their convictions, have shown themselves no mere haters of war—but enemies of the Declaration of Independence.

In this great convulsion ancient systems are falling; civilizations reared by ages are crumbling into atoms.

Famine, want, pestilence, death stalks over what were fertile fields—happy homes, and busy communities. Desolation, anguish and want has supplanted the happy, busy, prosperous life of most of Europe.

That their wide spreading desolation may never reach our shores depends upon how we meet our present duty as citizens, on our patriotism, on our unity of actions and of thought, and he who would disturb such unity of action or of thought is in effect, if not in intention, a traitor to the greatest free government of free men that the world has ever known.

The patriotism the German form of government has instilled into its people—is the suppression of the individual, and the exaltation of the state.

The patriotism we know is reverence for our institutions which protect the individual, and guarantee freedom.

Never before in the history of the world has there been an exception to the respect that is paid among nations to the law of good faith. It is the religion of government. It was observed by the painted Indian where a whiff of the pipe, or the passing of a string of beads, gave binding force and sanctity to treaties.

Even in the pirate states of Algiers a truce could be bought for money, and even these pirates were too wise or too just, to disown and annul its obligations. Yet the blighting effects of German Imperialism are such that treaties are violated, good faith is scorned, men, women and children murdered, and the German people make no protest.

Unhappy Germany—The judgment of God rests hard upon you. Your sufferings would deserve our pity, if our tears could wash away the crimes of your rulers.

But no state can put the dearest interests of human society and of civilization at risk without guilt.

without punishment, without remorse.

On the other hand America does not enter the war for glory, empty tinkling, glory; nor yet for conquests, either of people, land or trade. America has a nobler object. The preservation of human liberty, of civilization, and in pursuit of that object will manifest a courage, constancy and union that will be celebrated in history for all times to come.

But we must keep in mind what President Wilson has made so clear, that we do not war on the German people.

That we must show our friendship and trust toward our German born fellow citizens, whom we expect to show as much loyalty as other citizens.

German born citizens of the United States are in a position to know now that the American people are honest in their attitude in this war and, when, after the war, the terms of peace are laid down the people of Germany will know that the United States meant what our President has said.

They will learn that our patriotism has in view in this war something infinitely greater and nobler than a mere victory at arms.

That it aims at devising, and establishing some means whereby the world will never again be made the plaything of militarism—Prussian or any other brand.

That in the end the civilized nations will devise some means of enforcing national honesty and good faith, to the end that "Peace on earth, good will toward men" shall reign.

The following telegram was then read from Senator Warren G. Harding, evoking great cheering:

Washington, D. C., Mayor Royal C. Bigbee, Newark, O. Knowing of your patriotic meeting tonight I am wiring to express the confidence at the capital that all Ohio and all the country is heartily behind the government in sustaining our just American rights and everlasting freedom of the seas. I am perfectly sure all American hearts of Newark and Licking county are in accord with the patriotic spirit of the nation. (Signed) W. G. Harding.

Attorney Charles W. Montgomery, the third speaker of the evening was introduced by Chairman Beggs and spoke on "Our Part in the War." He said:

We are at war. We have as our avowed enemy the greatest land force in Europe. The war must be fought to the end. Neither side will be satisfied with a peace without victory. These facts should be understood.

No longer is it of any importance to us to discuss responsibility for the European war. No longer are our sympathies as between European nations of any importance. Those things are behind us. We must win the war.

We have no concern with the internal affairs of the German Empire. We are at war because that empire has been guilty of an affront to us, and in order that we may not by a cowardly yielding lose our national soul.

Our part in war should be to do whatever may be necessary for its successful prosecution, make a firm alliance with the Entente powers, to insure such a prosecution and to avoid a separate peace on their part. We should do whatever circumstances, as they arise, may require. If troops should go to France, I am ready. If it is a matter of money let us all gladly pay.

It is a question which each individual must settle for himself. As the nation must preserve its self-respect, so must the individual. He must in this crisis so conduct himself, that he can live with himself through the years to come.

The chorus rendered "Rally 'Round the Flag," many in the audience joining and Chairman Beggs read the following telegram from President Wilson's secretary:

The president sends greetings to the people of Newark but his burden is so heavy that it is impossible for him to prepare a special message for each community where patriotic meetings are being held. The president is appreciative of the assurances of united support that are coming from every section of the land.

J. P. TUMULLEY,
Secy. to the President.

Dr. L. C. Sparks was next introduced and gave an address on "Loyalty." He said that there were the most momentous moments in the world's history. That we should forget our differences of opinions concerning matters of government, that we are to be absolutely united in an overwhelming task and it would be petty to think of religious differences. However great our desire to escape entangling alliances, in the providence of the Infinite God we can no longer occupy a neutral place and we are bound inseparably into the strife of the world, and we cannot escape taking our part in this great struggle.

We have said that this country should be the refuge of the whole world. This glorious flag floats over the heads of 110,000,000 of people. Our supreme task has been to make out of men from all quarters of the world a citizenship which shall have the great fundamental principles upon which we have builded our government, and I plead that you with not have suspicion of any man's loyalty until his disloyalty has been proven.

What is the world's trouble? What is the matter of the world? I find no answer except this: militarism, not of the people but of crowned heads, and which grows out of the awful blunder of all the ages. Militarism and absolutism! We are, thank God, to kill it. We crushed the French, Chinese and Russian, and next will be the German monarchy. It has been said, "Uneasy lies the head that wears a crown," and so crowns are going, they are only an ornament anyhow.

What is the goal? It is to bring us into such compact that absolutely without any doubt there will never come into this world again a war. I believe that the United States entering this war means that not again shall the nations of this earth be summoned to slaughter its people before the Son of God. We are at a moment when we must be true men and women, when we must be loyal, when we shall be earnestly enthusiastic, persistent, courageous and self-sacrificing, that the man at the White House shall not be disappointed but shall find us ready to respond. Woodrow Wilson acted I believe, in the niche of time and there shall be room for us all. This is the hour when we should be sober, it is to be a time when that symbol, that flag, shall be the greatest emblem that kisses the breeze.

This concluded the addresses of the evening. The speakers were in excellent voice and their oratorical efforts brought forth continued applause throughout the evening.

A potpourri of songs by the Masonic chorus followed, which was one of the enjoyable features of the evening, the majority of them being of a patriotic nature.

C. H. Spencer then read the following resolutions which were adopted with a cheer and which will be forwarded today to the president:

Whereas, The great American Republic in defense of its sacred and historic right to life, liberty and the pursuit of happiness, has been forced into the great world war by the ruthless methods of the German government, and

Whereas, The congress has declared that a state of war exists between the United States and Germany; therefore, be it

Resolved, By the citizens of Newark in mass meeting assembled that we are a united citizenship in our loyal support of the President of the United States; That we are ready to lay aside our political and social divisions in defense of the flag and the undying principles for which it stands and that we pledge our sincere loyalty to President Wilson. Be it further

Resolved, That we express our admiration of the President's splendid leadership, his patience and steadfast devotion to duty and that we advise the President of the United States that the people of Newark, Ohio, are ready to do their full duty.

The entire audience then joined in singing "The Star Spangled Banner," after which it was dismissed by the benediction, pronounced by the Rev. Chas. H. Stull.

Early Rising.

John Wesley was a strong advocate of early rising, which he asserted was beneficial to weak eyes. "When I was young," he stated in a sermon on "The Duty and Advantage of Early Rising," "my sight was very weak, but it is stronger now than forty years ago. I impute this principally to the blessing of God, who fits us for whatever he calls us to do," but undoubtedly the outward means which he blessed was rising early every morning.—Exchange.

What He Didn't Know.

Peyton R. Hayden was long a conspicuous figure among the lawyers of Boone county. While he was fond of studying lawbooks, he cared little about literature.

During a recess one day in the Boone county courthouse a lawyer named Field from Lafayette county asked him what he thought of Byron's "Child Harold." Hayden replied: "Egad, sir, I did not know that Byron had a child named Harold."

ADVERTISING LOWERS COST.

The rising cost of living is the great universal hardship of the present day. So great and so many have these risen been that few people stop to realize that there have been any exceptions to the general rule. But the fact is that there have been numerous exceptions and all of these exceptions belong to the same great class—that of nationally advertised goods.

The present agitation on the high cost of living has led to some investigations which have brought out a lot of facts hitherto unknown to the public. Some of the most important work in this line is being done by the Association of National Advertisers, an organization of 280 of the leading advertisers of the country.
Mr. Sullivan, the Secretary-Treasurer of the Association, has given out some vitally important facts concerning the relation of advertising to selling cost.

"The old idea," said Mr. Sullivan,
"that the cost of advertising raises prices dies hard. But the business man knows better. He knows that selling goods is costly business—no matter what the goods or what the selling methods. And he knows that anything which creates demand on a large scale, and thus makes selling easier, is bound to reduce selling costs, and thus helps to reduce prices."

"But evidence is better than argument; facts are better than theories, and we have been at great pains to collect the facts. We have secured an immense amount of data from our members which proves that advertising does reduce selling costs and thus tends to reduce the selling price of advertised goods. Let me quote a few examples:

"The makers of a famous photographic camera, when they began advertising twenty-eight years ago, made one camera which took a 2 1/2 inch picture and which sold at $25.
Today they make a far better camera which sells for $10. Another, which took a 4 1/2 inch picture, sold for $60.
Today they sell a better one for $20. And so on through the line."

"A prominent hat manufacturer has, by means of advertising, reduced his selling cost seven cents per hat. Result—the buyer gets a hat of better quality at no increase in price; this despite increased cost of raw material and workmanship."

"When the manufacturer of a famous breakfast food specialty began advertising, his goods sold at 15 cents a package. Today the package is fifty per cent larger and the price has been reduced to 10 cents. Again advertising did it, the same causes producing the same results."

"The producer of another well known food specialty is selling his goods at 25 per cent less to the wholesale grocery trade than four years ago."

"Twenty years ago a nationally advertised shaving stick was sold in a cheap metal leatherette covered box.
Today a stick containing 20 per cent more soap is sold in a handsome nickel box at the same price."

"Then take the most conspicuous example of them all—the automobile business; and compare the $5,000 or $10,000 cars of ten years ago with the equally good cars of today, selling for a fraction of the money."

"And so on through a long list. In every case, the manufacturer either has been able to lower the price or improve the quality at no increase in price."

How has he done it? By means of advertising, which has created demand on a large scale and thus permitted production and distribution on a large scale. Result—Improved manufacturing efficiency and reduced selling costs. And all of this

MAKING CITY FARMERS.

When the school and home gardening movements started in the United States a score of years ago few persons foresaw that some day this miniature farming of urban lots might prove of great economic benefit to the entire population. Up to the present the movement has been fostered as a social service—to give boys and girls habits of industry, and to afford to dwellers in congested districts enjoyable, healthful and profitable occupation in their leisure.
With incidental aid in beautifying cities and towns by cleaning up the back yards and vacant lots.

The present food crisis, which may become more acute in the event of a serious war, seems to have brought the day in which the idle lands within American municipalities are likely to become an important source of food supply. So seriously is the matter regarded that a number of well-known educators and philanthropists have organized in Washington the National Emergency Food Garden Commission devoted to the purpose of putting a million men, women, and children on city and town gardens this spring,
to raise vegetables for their families.
Charles Lathrop Pack, president of the American Forestry Association, is the originator of the movement and the head of it. With him are associated many prominent men.

The plan adopted by the Commission is first to create garden volunteers by making the dwellers in cities and towns realize the danger in the food situation this year, and then to give these volunteers daily instruction in gardening from the sprouting of seeds in hot beds to the harvesting of the ripe crops.
The ambition of the Commission to create 1,000,000 new gardeners is conservative. The Bureau of Education estimates that there are 6,000-000 school children capable of culivating garden yards, while within our cities and towns there is proba-ly an equal number of adults who have the leisure for such work. The garden project is already well under way in Newark. The school children under competent direction will plant and cultivate gardens and the authorities are encouraging the cultivation of vacant lots and the planting of backyard gardens everywhere about town.

Billy Sunday has opened his three months campaign in New York, having been welcomed the first day by 50,000 people. The evangelist's announcement that he will donate every dollar New York gives him to the Y. M. C. A. working among the soldiers is the answer Mr. Sunday gives to those who have charged him with commercializing evangelism.

The patriotic spirit may be manifested in the gardens and on the farms. Grow food.

YOU KNOW YOU NEED A GOOD COURSE OF MEDICINE.

We Recommend Hood's Sarsaparilla
and Pepton Pills.

It is found that many people who feel the need of a good tonic an immediate uplift of pure blood and strength—get wonderful help, perfect satisfaction, in a course of Hood's Sarsaparilla and Pepton Pills.
Hood's Sarsaparilla is especially recommended for conditions that are radically or characteristically erroneous or dependent on impure blood.
Pepton Pills are recommended for conditions that are radically or characteristically anemic and nervous.

All the ingredients in this combination work together in harmony, and are absolutely harmless. No opiates, no heart-depressants, no habit-forming drugs.
Why not begin taking these two medicines—one before meals, the other after—as soon as you can get them.

BUSINESS AND WAR.

In looking forward to our entrance into the war, many people have been fearing that it would cause a great business shock, and lead to suffering and unemployment.
Such, however, is not the usual story of war. Even with all the suffering in Europe, there are no unemployed. There is something for every willing hand to do. The shock and suffering come years after when people carry the heavy burdens imposed by war, and scrimp and save to pay national debts and heavy taxes.

War in this country has usually been preceded by stock market flurries. In advance the speculators are apt to sell short, trusting that people's fears will lead them to throw securities overboard at bargain prices. But the speculative crowd does not allow prices to slump very far. They realize that war creates work and business, and tends to make industrial enterprises profitable for the time being. The final results are tremendously expensive, but the people of ten years hence will feel it far more than today.

So let no timid business man get scared and think our great country is going to rack and ruin. War will make a demand for a thousand kinds of supplies, and the factories will have to get them out in a hurry. The need for food will be increased, and the farms will have to hustle to fill the hungry mouths.

War is a time of artificial stimulus to business, and the first dose is as exhilarating to trade as some powerful drug. The costs of it will be paid later, but paid gradually,
and there will be no panic and no industrial disaster. Though our military and naval situations may be wholly inadequate for this crisis, yet financially we are well prepared.

AT WAR.

(Cleveland Plain Dealer.)
America at war? The reality, discounted in advance for weeks, brings every true American upstanding at attention. The entrance of one hundred million people into a war fought with the desperation that has marked the present conflict from the beginning is a solemn event, for the hundred million and for the world.

President Wilson in reluctantly asking war spoke for the people of the United States. Congress, in adopting the war resolution by crushing majorities in both branches, spoke for the people. It is a people's war.

And this means, above every other consideration at the moment, that every American must bear his share of the burden and responsibility in the conflict now beginning.
It is not to be a war waged by one portion of the population with the other portion remaining uninterested and inactive. Men and women must serve, each as best he may. The service of each is from this moment forward at his country's call. The decision of the United States to throw her great weight into the balance on the side of democracy and humanity against autocracy and oppression has given "encouragement" to the cause of popular government to the world over. It is a signal to all nations that the great republic of the west at last formally recognizes the vitality of the issue between Prussia and her enemies; that the richest and potentially the strongest of powers proposes no longer to sit back in comfort while her natural allies shed their life blood in defense of the principles for which the republic was founded.

Lovers of democracy in every country hail with delight America's unsheathing of the sword. Even the German people accustomed from birth to the iron heel of Prussian oppression, will realize, if they are permitted to know the facts, that their own welfare in the long run depends upon the success of their present enemies in the field.

As President Wilson made plain in his memorable address to congress, the United States makes no issue against the German people as such. But against the German imperial government every resource of the republic, in men and money, is pledged to the uttermost. The government at Berlin assumes to treat lightly the entrance of this nation into the war; but Berlin knows, as the world knows, that the action of the American republic is the sounds of death knell of Prussianism.

President Wilson voiced the death sentence of the Hohenzollernism, and congress, in the name of the people of the United States, confirmed the sentence.

America enters the war to win,
for herself, for her allies, for democracy and decency. There can be no wavering, no hesitation, no division of counsel. Activities already started since the war resolution was signed early Friday afternoon indicate the government's readiness for prompt, aggressive hostilities. The pace thus set must be maintained.

THE DEBT TO FRANCE.

(New York Evening Post.)

It is to be regretted that the facts of this Revolutionary debt to France have been so wildly misstated by the proposers of this plan (a government loan to France)—the more so because, as stated, they have put a very unpleasant color on our own past history. We are told that if these Revolutionary loans of France were to be repaid, principal and interest, to the total amount would far exceed $1,000,000,000. Now, the truth is, first, that the loans by France from 1778 to 1783 were duly repaid when they matured, one or two decades later, and second, that neither the original loans nor an imagined increment of unpaid interest up to 1917 would approach the figure named. Trevelyan's careful estimate of the total money obtained from France by Franklin for the colonies is 25,000,000 francs, or roughly, $5,000,000. Professor Sumner points out that this debt fell due by fixed instalments only after 1787. In 1783, indeed, Hamilton's special report stated the whole foreign debt incurred in the Revolution to be $7,800,000. By 1795, only $2-024,000, not yet due, was outstanding for the account of France, and our ambassador at Paris was actually discussing a loan by the United States to France. That our government has not for a century and a quarter been repudiating its foreign debt of the Revolution, the authors of these recent assertions might have learned by re-reading the Constitution of the United States, whose sixth article provides that "all debts and engagements entered into, before the adoption of this Constitution, shall be as valid against the United States under this Constitution."

THOUGHT FOR TODAY.

(Ohio State Journal.)
This awful war is the fruit of materialism—the worship of matter instead of the exercise of the spirit. It is mistaken for culture, education, progress. The mistake results in battle and blood. There is no progress that does not take God into account. There is no invention, no machinery, but what will work ruin at last if it does not consult the divine spirit. This is not fancy or rhetoric, not the expression of an idle faith. It is as true as gravitation or as two and two make four. Upon this point Bishop Andrews of Canada thus spoke, warning the United States against relying for its safety upon mere material welfare. Germany, he said, was a pronounced example of a nation where extreme material development culminated in ruin and disaster because there has been no corresponding progress of a purely spiritual and ethical character. These words are suited to today's appealing duties. We will have to take into the coming conflict the devotion of a soul that is unafraid;
that is willing to face an issue that is worthy of death. God requires of us a great deal more than we are willing to concede, but there comes a time when we have to face the demand. That time seems to come about now.

THEY FIGHT AND YOU PAY

THE MAN WHO STAYS ON HIS JOB.

THE TRUE PATRIOT.

(By Arthur J. Matthews.)
The sound of martial music
Rising from the village green,
Turned many loyal citizens
Toward a splendid stirring scene.
Where a band of youthful heroes
Ready of war's dread alarms,
Had responded to the summons
Of their country's call to arms.

A crowd had quickly gathered
From all quarters of the town,
To look upon the soldiers
In their khaki suits of brown.
As they saw above the trees,
Old Glory proudly floating
In the early morning breeze.

A bevy of fair maidens
Passed among them, blithe and gay,
Dismissing rays of sunshine
And good cheer along the way.
But 'neath the gay exterior
Their young hearts beat sharp with Patriotism held aloft.

At the thought that many there, perhaps,
Would never return again.
Beneath the trees a widow
Stood beside her only boy.
The lad she loved and nurtured
And who was her pride and joy.
Her face showed lines of sorrow
Where sweet smiles were wont to play.
As the hour drew slowly nearer
That her gallant sire had won,
Upon the field of battle,
In the days of Sixty-one.

With tear wet eyes her glances Wandered off toward the west,
To the quiet village churchyard
Where her dear ones lay at rest.
Two noble soldier heroes
Who, with eyes that beamed with love,
Had answered here in accents clear,
When the roll was called above.

And now her son, her only one
Just like his sire of yore,
Had volunteered for service
And would march away to war.
But deep within her bosom
Patriotism held full sway.
And, tho' her heart was breaking,
Yet, she could not bid him stay.

"Go forth, my son," she told him,
Your young strength I freely give!
To defend our grand old emblem
And the land wherein we live.
Be honest, true and manly,
In all things you may do.
Remember home and mother,
And may God take care of you!"

There are heroes born of woman
Who have gained an honored name,
Brave men whose deeds are written
Upon the scroll of fame.
But when all have been recorded,
And the land of heroes' wait,
The noble name of Mother
Will be found above them all!

Gentlemen: For over fifteen years I was afflicted with excruciating mismus, back and face. I suffered so much distress that I could not sleep. My face was red and swollen, and covered with dry, feverish scales. I was unable to attend to business for weeks at a time.

I had about given up all hope when I tried your remedy. Almost at once the application gave me relief so I could sleep. After applying it for sev-

To Have Clean Beautiful Hair

The best thing to use is kreamol, a liquid which you can get at almost any drug store.

A small amount, only one or two teaspoonfuls will cleanse the hair and scalp thoroughly.

Simply moisten the hair with water, rub in a little of kreamol, massage well and then rinse in clean water. The hair dries quickly and evenly, and is fresh looking, bright, fluffy, wavy, and easy to handle. Besides, it loosens and removes the dust, dirt and dandruff.

Do not use cheap soap or cheaply prepared shampoos if you want to keep your scalp clean and the hair soft and beautiful.

You will find kreamol very inexpensive as a four ounce bottle will be sufficient to last every one in the family many weeks.—Adv.

Kreamol is sold at Evans' Drug Store (Warden Hotel Block), Newark, Ohio, and Ullman's Drug Store, Granville, Ohio.

Lynn of Byesville, O., and Clarence Cunningham of this city. Mr. and Mrs. Cunningham will reside in Cameron, W. Va.

Whiteside--Gore.
Rev. L. C. Sparks, pastor of the First M. E. church, solemnized the marriage of Miss Rose C. Gore and Mr. Charles Whiteside on Monday evening at 7:30 o'clock at the parsonage of the church.

Mr. and Mrs. Whiteside will reside in Newark, the bridegroom being employed as a machinist at the Wehrle company.

Peterson--Hartman.
Easter flowers and music marked the celebration of Easter Sunday at the home of Mr. and Mrs. C. D. Nutter, 31 W. Harrison street, when the wedding of her sister, Mrs. Lulu Peterson and Mr. Adolph Hartman was solemnized by Rev. Grover L. Diehl at 3:00 o'clock. The marriage service of the Congregational church was read and they were attended by her niece, Miss Edith Nutter and a brother, Mr. S. W. Jones of Piqua, O. The bride wore a becoming dress of gray silk and slippers to match and a bouquet of white carnations. The bride is a resident of Dayton and Mr. Hartman is employed by the Overland Automobile Company, of Toledo. The out of town guests were Miss Edith Nutter, of Dayton; Mr. S. W. Jones, and Mrs. Ethel Martin, of Piqua. The day also marked the twentieth wedding anniversary of Mr. and Mrs. Nutter. A large number of friends called during the afternoon and a bountiful dinner was served at 5:00 o'clock.

Many beautiful presents were received from friends of both families.

The Trouble With Alice.
"Alice has a very poor figure. She has no waist, and so she doesn't yearn for clothes."
"I see. It's a case of waist not, want not."

Thoroughness.
"When I take up an idea," said the egoist, "I cover it completely."
"You do more than that," replied the satirist; "you bury it."—Exchange.

The Courts

Common Pleas Notes.
William Allen Veach vs. Frank G. Warden, assigned for trial April 27, last case.

Stark Bros. vs. C. L. Smith, heretofore assigned for trial April 16th; passed, to be assigned to Judge Jewell. The suit is brought upon a promissory note, and to which a counter claim for damages has been filed by defendant.

T. M. Tharion vs. Emily Smith; heretofore assigned for trial April 19th. Trial passed to the latter part of the assignment.

Gertrude J. Beever vs. John F. Youst, et al., an action in partition. The sheriff has made his return showing sale of the real estate for $3,300. The court finding the proceeding regular in all respects, confirmed the sale and distribution of proceeds was ordered.

Marriage License.
Harry C. Lamb, a waiter, and Mrs. Nellie M. Blair, a pastry cook, both of this city. Rev. A. B. Cox to officiate.

Nicholas J. Wilhems, window glass blower, and Miss Lena Cortright, both of Utica. Rev. William O'Brien to officiate.

Thomas Tate, a chauffeur, of Delaware, and Miss Myrtle Randolph of this city.

Charles Whiteside, a machinist, and Miss Rose J. Gore, both of this city.

Assessor Appointed.
F. D. Sommerville of Perry township has been appointed assessor of that taxing district to succeed Festus Hoover, who has removed to this city.

First Report.
Atty. B. F. McDonald of this city was the first tax payer to make out his return and send to the county auditor. James M. Nichols of Mary Ann township was the first to make a return from the country. Clerks and deputies are busy in Auditor J. W. Hursey's office in mailing out 12,000 tax statements.

Justice Scott's Office.
Theodore Potent was arrested on the affidavit of John Cosma on a charge of assault and battery and waived examination in Justice Fletcher S. Scott's court, giving bail in the sum of $100 for his appearance in probate court.

Our Boys and Girls

A mother cannot be too careful in training her children to chew their food well and to take sufficient time for meals. Indigestion will surely result from rapid eating and from the crowding of food into the stomach. The child that eats rapidly overloads his stomach before his hunger is satisfied.

Restless sleeping, with irritable temper and a depleted nervous system is another result of rapid eating. No child should come in overheated and excited from a riotous game and be permitted to eat immediately. A few minutes of quiet and relaxation should precede the meal. Neither should the child be permitted to play violently after eating a full meal, serious illness and even death may result. If the mother feeds her baby slowly the tendency to eat fast, will not be cultivated.

Every Day Etiquette

"Please tell me the proper positions for the persons in the receiving line at a reception after a wedding?" asked a bride-to-be.

"The bride and groom stand side by side, the bride on the groom's right, between him and her maid-of-honor. The bridesmaids may stand half on the right and half on the left of the couple, and the bride's parents usually stand near the door to welcome the guests," her aunt informed her.

Romance and Fiction.
When a very rich man marries a very poor girl, that's romance. When a very rich girl marries a very poor man, that's fiction.—Galveston News.

Granville

[Special to The Advocate]

Granville, April 10.—The Travelers club held the last meeting of the year yesterday afternoon with an unusually large attendance of all the members.

The club has studied South America through the year and many splendid and interesting papers have been given, also three illustrated lectures, namely, South America From the Coast, Dr. Frank Carney; South America and the Doctrine of Evolution, Prof. Malcolm E. Stickney; Mars From Harvard Observatory, South America, Dr. Paul Bielefeld; A Land of Scenic Splendors, A Continent of Contrasts, A Travelers' Paradise, South America.

A pleasing feature of the afternoon's program was responses to roll call. "What Would I Like to See Most in South America," and the debate, "Equal Suffrage as a Public Question," discussed by Mrs. Homer Price and Mrs. George H. Reese. It was voted that the mid-summer business meeting shall be held at the home of Mrs. George H. Reese, August sixth. Among the guests of the afternoon were: Mrs. E. D. Barnes, Mrs. R. D. Williamson, Mrs. Upham, Mrs. C. B. Goodell will entertain the club in the church parlors next Monday afternoon.

Mrs. G. E. Jones who has been visiting Mrs. Otto Jones and daughters of Columbus has returned. Miss Clark of the Missionary home entertained Dr. Stillwell at dinner last evening.

Yesterday Mrs. Hannah Rogers celebrated her one hundredth birthday anniversary at the home of her son and daughter, Rev. and Mrs. Daniel Rogers, in Shepardsen court. This remarkable woman was baptized in the Merrimac river at Lowell, Mass., in 1837, and she has been a member of the Baptist church at Granville since 1900. She has retained to a wonderful degree her mental and physical strength and is receiving the congratulations and greeting of the entire church and neighborhood on this notable occasion. One of the pleasing features of the day was the presentation by the men of the church of one hundred dollars—typifying the one hundred milestones.

During the coming week, Dr. H. F. Stillwell of Cleveland will preach every night except Saturday in the Baptist church. Tonight the Shepardsen College Glee club will sing.

Mr. and Mrs. E. J. Dorsey, Mrs. B. I. Jones and Mrs. Belle Grove Wright were guests at Sunday dinner at the home of Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Kussmaul in South Prospect street.

Nelson Rupp has been the guest of Beta Theta Pi over the week-end. Other guests at Curtis Hall for Sunday dinner were: Mrs. Hines, Miss Madeleine Edgerly, Messrs. Stuart Lapp and Charles Willis. On Saturday evening at an informal party those present were: Miss Fannie J. Ferrar, Misses Clark, Tipton, Edgerly, Eldridge, McDonald, Ireland, Margaret Seasholes, Rogers and Palmer.

The Denison Glee club has returned from the vacation concert tour through eastern Ohio, Pennsylvania and West Virginia, and report a most successful time with big audiences in every city.

Miss Frances Jones has been spending her Easter holidays at Bryn Du Farm at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. S. Jones on the Newark road.

Mr. and Mrs. James A. Huston delightfully entertained at dinner Saturday evening at "Wilkenheim" on the Columbus road, complimenting Dr. and Mrs. Richard S. Colwell and Mr. and Mrs. John Sutphin Jones.

Miss Gertrude Carpenter is spending the Easter vacation with relatives at New Salem, O.

Easter was observed with appropriate services in all the Granville churches. The Baptist church presented a beautiful appearance with elaborate decorations of palms, ferns and vines and a profusion of cut flowers and growing plants.

Easter lilies, roses, hyacinths, primroses, carnations, snapdragons, daffodils and all the early spring blossoms. The arrangement showed the touch of an artist hand, and made a lovely setting for the impressive baptismal service which followed at the close of the sermon.

At first she is, perhaps, rather loath to look in the mirror, and frowns at herself as she does so. It is quite natural that she should have lost some of her vanity and glorious appeal, while confined to the sick room. Milady Convalsence is bound to frown, first at her hair, which has been slightly neglected by the nurse who was anxious only for her recovery. A shampoo should be given as soon as the patient is able to stand the exertion.

As an occupation for your fingers while getting well, put your nails in to shape, when you are tired of reading. It is wonderful what two weeks of solicitous care will do for your nails that are not subject to any hostile influence, such as cold, dirt and dishwashing and dusting. The complexion should be treated every day to a cold cream, and Milady will soon take up her hand mirror with an air of confidence in her restored beauty.

Milady's Boudoir

Milady Convalsence has not the slightest ambition of her former self, to be sure, but she is bound to take at least a trifling interest in her appearance, as she grows stronger each day in her lounging chair.

A lady boudoir cap and soft negligee does so much toward making her look attractive in the weary, but hopeful days of getting well.

The quotation about "cabbages and king's brings the thought that in these days of high living only kings can afford cabbages.

Obituary

Body Unclaimed.
Undertaker L. N. Bradley buried the body of Jesse Moore, the unidentified man whose home was supposed to be at Aurora, Ill., this afternoon at 2 o'clock.

Moore died at the Sanitarium last Saturday night after a week's illness of pneumonia, and all efforts of Undertaker Bradley to identify him with any person in Aurora have failed.

Over a week ago while ill, Moore applied at the city prison for a night's lodging and was accommodated and was removed the next morning to the Sanitarium.

Frederick Ashton.
Frederick Ashton was born in Granville, November 11, 1844, and died April 3, 1917. His early life was spent on a farm near Hebron and at the age of 16 years he enlisted in the Civil war, serving three years in Co. C, 13th Ohio regiment. For 14 years he was an employee of the leather company of Newark and the last four years of his life he made his home in Granville. He was married to Jennie Mead in the early sixties. Three children, surviving, that union, Mollie Prichard of Pittsburgh, Belle Ashton of Columbus and Ora Bonebrake of Toledo. On May 6, 1913, he was married to Drusilla Ashton, who with her son Karl and daughter Ella Heinke, one brother, Henry, and sisters Frances Haynes and Harriet Baker are left to mourn his death. He was a kind, loving husband and father. Knowing him one could only love and respect him.

Card of Thanks.
We wish to thank our friends and neighbors for their many kindnesses and sympathy during the illness and death of Mr. Frederick Ashton, also to express our appreciation of the services rendered by Rev. Dr. Harford, Rev. O. O. O'Keefe, Mr. and Mrs. W. P. Ullman, Mrs. J. H. Rohr and Mr. Frank Robinson and for the many beautiful floral offerings. Mrs. Frederick Ashton and Family.

An Effective Laxative For Growing Children

Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin Highly Recommended as a Family Remedy.

In children, the slightest irregularity of the bowels has a tendency to disturb the entire digestive system, and unless promptly remedied, invites serious illness. The experienced mother knows that by training her children to regularity in this respect, and when occasion arises administering a mild laxative she will have little need for the doctor's services.

Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin can be obtained at any drug store for fifty cents, and should have a place in every home. It will save many times its cost in lessened doctor bills and maintain the health of the entire family. To avoid imitations and ineffective substitutes be sure to get Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin. See that a facsimile of Dr. Caldwell's signature and his portrait appear on the yellow carton in which the bottle is packed. A trial bottle, free of charge, can be obtained by writing to Dr. W. B. Caldwell, 455 Washington St., Monticello, Ill.

FOR THOSE WHO WISH TO TEACH

Questions Put to Applicants For County Certificates.

EXAMINATION HELD APRIL 2.

Prepared by the State Superintendent of Public Instruction to Test the Mental Qualifications of Those Who Seek Positions as Teachers in the Public Schools.

Following is the list of questions as prepared under direction of the state superintendent of public instruction and submitted at the county examination for teachers April 2, for elementary school certificates:

AGRICULTURE.

(Choose eight)

1. What use do you make of U. S. Farmers' Bulletins, Experiment Station Bulletins and Ohio State University Extension Bulletins?
2. Describe the cultivation of one kind of berry.
3. What are the chief sources of danger to a potato crop? How can they be avoided?
4. Describe one method of farm drainage.
5. Name two breeds of chickens which you prefer and explain why.
6. Explain how crop rotation helps the soil.
7. Why is a neatly kept farm likely to be a profitable farm? Go into detail about some of the signs of "neatness."
8. Describe the action of two of the insects or bacteria that injure trees and tell how to resist them.
9. Name three projects you would want the boys studying agriculture to undertake and outline one of them somewhat fully.

HISTORY.

(Choose eight)

1. To what topics involved in a study of the Civil War do you give chief emphasis, and why?
2. Outline some series of events in which we were obliged to use our navy.
3. State some dispute which we settled by diplomacy or arbitration; state who represented us in the negotiations, or what sort of board gave the decision, and the result.
4. Trace relations between geography and history on one of our borders.
5. Explain how the United States has dealt with one of the territories acquired (practically) by conquest.
6. Tell the story of one of the great explorers whose work was done previously to 1750.
7. Give five great sayings of Americans, stating the occasion of each.
8. To what sources do you go for information on American History topics?

6. Why could a person not live on a diet of grass?
7. Explain how some particular organ is protected.
8. What is a cold? How does getting damp or chilled make people catch cold?
9. Give directions for some process of the daily toilet which should not be neglected.

THEORY AND PRACTICE.

(Choose eight)

1. Show how a game or play method helps in school work, particularly in language work.
2. Show some ways in which language work can be especially adapted to the rural school.
3. Distinguish between the purposes and aims of language work in the fifth grade and those in the seventh or eighth grade.
4. Show how originality may be promoted in the upper grades. (Language work may be used as an illustration if desired.)
5. What do you ask yourself about the questions you ask to determine whether they have sufficient scope, and whether they are otherwise good questions?
6. Why should a teacher be in good physical condition?
7. Why should there be a period during which the teacher can "devote herself to the needs of those individuals who need special help?"

8. Should the same lesson plans be used year after year? Why?
9. State one important principle to be observed in a drill lesson. Discuss its importance, and ways of using the principle.

GEOGRAPHY.

(Choose eight)

1. Describe improvements in transportation in the last few years in some country other than the United States.
2. Explain the cause of the growth of some great city other than New York or Chicago.
3. Explain how to use home geography as a source of basal ideas.

6. What fuels are used in the United States? State the prevailing fuel in each of five widely separated regions.
7. What do you regard as the best location for a United States armor plate plant? Give all reasons for your choice of location.
8. If there were no normal schools in Ohio and eight were to be located, on the information you now possess where would you vote to place them and why?
9. Give an idea of the geographical features of one of the present battle fronts in Europe or Asia, preferably drawing a rough map and explaining it.

GRAMMAR.

1. Discuss the methods and extent of oral work in the primary, intermediate or grammar grades.
2. To what extent and for what purpose do you have your pupils use the dictionary?
3. How do you motivate composition work in your school?
4. Discuss the importance of memory games.
5. Of what value is parsing? Analyze.
6. What are your most frequent errors in the use of English? How are you trying to improve your English?
7. Write a letter of about two hundred words to a friend describing the Ohio Essay Contest.

LITERATURE.

(Choose eight)

1. Give a general statement of the content of some one of Dickens' novels.
- 2 and 3. Give a brief biography of one of the authors treated at length in this year's reading circle book on literature.
4. Name five books that you have read recently that you would call literature and give an outline of one of them.
5. Name some great poems that you have read and give a sketch of one of them.
6. Name and characterize the chief characters in some great drama.
7. Name six or more works that you would class as patriotic literature.
8. Name six poems of nature or of the seasons and quote from one of them.
9. Give a list of ten poems that you read to pupils and state the age or grade to which they are adapted.

ORTHOGRAPHY.

1. From what sources do you choose the words to be learned by your school and why?
2. Is it advisable to teach the spelling of words the meaning of which is not understood?
3. What is "the dictionary habit?"
4. Write ten words too difficult or too little used to be taught in an elementary school.
5. Write ten of the most difficult words that should be taught in the upper grades.
6. Write the names of ten kinds of goods. (Men may substitute names of twenty tools.)

WRITING.

1. How far do you instruct the pupils individually in writing?
2. Write a line each of four exercises designed to develop both form and speed.
3. Write ten times the figures 1 to 0.
4. Copy the following as a specimen of your penmanship:
The glow-worm now lights up her emerald lamp;
Bright crystal dew-fall every flower's cup;
The wan moon's disk assumes a golden hue;
The cricket's chirp sounds from the stubble-field;
The bat fits silent from his ivy home;
Now, shall I lure some wanderer from his way
Mislead the thirsty pilgrim from the brook?
Or fill, with chink of gold, the dreaming ear
Of thrifty Housewife, nodding at her wheel,
That wheels, she may fret its loss?—
But stay,
Evening's last gleam has faded into night.
I must wait here, to meet the Fairy King.

HIGH SCHOOL AGRICULTURE.

(Choose eight)

1. Why is a larger production of agricultural crops of great importance to our country?
 2. Name three agricultural projects which you would want your boys to undertake and outline one of them somewhat fully.
 3. Why would you advise a farmer to buy pure bred stock?
 4. What agricultural publications do you read and have your pupils read?
 5. How will the national government aid agriculture in Ohio in the future? (Include the aid which is already being rendered.)
 6. Show that successful farming requires a mastery of machinery.
 7. Is the law requiring all trees and shrubs to be sprayed a good one? Why? What can you say of its enforcement?
 8. Describe several experiments designed to show the qualities of different soils.
 9. How should the seed for one of the following be chosen: (a) corn, (b) wheat, (c) potato, (d) pea?
- Norfolk Island, in the South Pacific, which was peopled with descendants of mutineers of the English ship Bounty, who married Tahitian women and fled with them to escape British justice, has furnished several detachments of recruits for the Australian forces sent to the war in Europe.

SMALL CHURCH MAKES LIBERAL EASTER OFFERING

Cash day was observed at the Tenth Street U. B. church Easter and the collections taken were large. The Sunday school offering amounted to $279.10, the church offering $38.70, making a total of $317 for the morning.

The church has a membership of 163 including the children under the watch care of the church. All the services are well attended and the offerings throughout the year are generous. Plans are being discussed for a new church building to be erected.

THEY WERE RUN DOWN.

How often we hear the cry of a man or woman that "they were run down in health" which accounts for their present sickness. For that reason it is important that when you find you tire easily, when your nerves are troublesome or your work is irksome, you should strengthen your system immediately with the blood-enriching, tissue-building properties in Tono-Nerve. Your druggist will refund your money if Tono-Nerve fails to help you. The City Drug Store, Newark, Ohio. —Adv't.

Eskimo Carving.

All of the Eskimo carving today is done with steel tools, but there is work in existence that dates back to the stone age. The older Eskimos say that their ancestors used tools of flint, and it is known that they have been carving ivory for many generations. Some of the very poorest of them and those that live in the most out of the way places are noted for their work of this kind. They seem to do it for pastime and make many toys and dolls for their children. They have a way of softening the bone, horn or ivory before they work it, and to make the carvings more distinct they etch lines on the surface with a black paint made of a mixture of gunpowder and blood. This, when put on the freshly cut bone, makes a permanent stain.

Our Fishing Presidents.

Fourteen of the twenty-seven presidents of the United States have been fishermen. When fishing and the presidency are mentioned the mind instantly recalls Cleveland, the fishing president. He is the one president who wrote a book discussing angling. It is not generally known, but the first president of the republic was an enthusiastic angler. It may be of interest to the enthusiastic anglers of the nation to record the names of the fishing presidents. They are: George Washington, Martin Van Buren, John Tyler, Zachary Taylor, Millard Fillmore, Franklin Pierce, Abraham Lincoln, Andrew Johnson, Ulysses S. Grant, James A. Garfield, Chester A. Arthur, Grover Cleveland, Theodore Roosevelt and William Howard Taft. —New York Sun.

NO COST IF THIS FAILS TO REMOVE HAIR ROOTS: (New, Wonderful, Instantaneous Method)

You who are annoyed with embarrassing growths of superfluous hair have waited long for something that would do more than merely take off the surface hair temporarily—something that would really remove the hair roots. And now—at last—your wish is realized!

The new phelactine process is far different from, far better than electrical, depilatory or other methods, because it actually removes the hair en-root and all—before your very eyes—easily, instantly, harmlessly! Get a stick of phelactine, follow the simple directions, and you will be surprised and pleased beyond words—or the druggist will return your money without question. It has no odor, no irritating element, and is so non-injurious a child could safely eat it. It leaves the skin so soft, smooth, harmless, that not the least sign of your former trouble remains.

REV. P. O. ORTT ADDS 100 MEMBERS TO HIS CHURCH

At a business meeting of the Maple Avenue C. U. church, Wednesday evening, it was voted to consolidate the general council of the Christian Union churches.

A vote was taken to deed all the church property and local organization over the general council, following a talk by the pastor, Rev. P. O. Ortt, who told of the advantages of the consolidation. The Maple Avenue church has experienced a very successful year. Over one hundred new members have been added during the pastorate of Rev. Ortt, who was graduated from Denison University in 1900.

REED COMPANY FLYS NEW FLAG AT PLANT

A flag raising took place at the plant of the Reed Wire Cloth Company in Leroy Street, Saturday afternoon. A large American flag was bought by the men and women employees and Henry Henthorne, manager, furnished the pole and paid for the expenses of its erection. As the flag was raised and floated to the breeze Miss Hazel Rice sang "America," all joining in its repetition. Mr. Henthorne next delivered a patriotic speech and all present gave three cheers, for the flag, our country and our president.

THE PLEASURE OF HEARING VICTOR RECORDS.

There is probably not in the world a greater source of pleasure than the Victor records. As pleasure gives them seem to have taken a place beside books. "What have you read of the new books?" the question of a few years ago in the conversation of every educated person, is now just as often, "What new Victor records have you heard?" Fortunately one can easily keep up-to-date by hearing his choice of the new records at any Victor dealer's. Like good booksellers, the Victor dealers are glad to have one come and "browse" without obligation, knowing that sooner or later the favorites will find a place in the home music library. Ask any Victor dealer to play any music you wish to hear at any time and he will gladly do so.

BOY SCOUTS NOTICE.

Troop No. 5 will meet tonight 7 to 8 o'clock, Second Presbyterian church. The new troop from the First Presbyterian church is invited to be present.

Troop No. 6 will meet at Trinity Parish House at the same hour for drill and examinations.

Troop No. 4 will meet Friday night at Central Church of Christ.

The Committee has received 100 staffs which will be given out at these meetings. The cost is 20 cents each. All troops prepare for a hike on Saturday, April 14th from 10 a. m. to 3 p. m.

AN INVITATION TO WOMEN.

Women are invited to visit the laboratory of the Lydia E. Pinkham Medicine Co. at Lynn, Mass., and see for themselves with what accuracy, skill and cleanliness this wonderful remedy for women's ailments is prepared. Over 350,000 pounds of roots and herbs used annually in making this famous medicine. The great bins of herbs, the huge tanks filled with the medicine ready to be bottled, and the bottling room where it is put up and labeled for the market, cannot help but impress them with the reliability of this good, old-fashioned, root herb remedy, which for the past forty years has been so successful in the home treatment of female ills.

Procrastination may be the thief of time, but the average man would prefer to be late at his own funeral.

WE ARE ALL GAMBLERS

GAMBLING is one of the most deep-seated instincts in the human soul. And naturally so, says science, for life itself is a gamble. Only those animals which took risks, hoping that they would succeed, could have survived in the primeval struggle for existence.

Says a noted psychologist:

"Consider the sparrow seeking its food in the street, consider the sly fox and the timid hare, consider, in fact, all the undomesticated animals, and you will see what a gamble animal life is. From the moment of birth on through childhood the human being gambles with nature for its existence, and how very often does it lose! Later, when the young man has to choose a profession it's a gamble; when he marries, it is still a gamble, and so it continues to the end of his days.

"War is the greatest game of all, and commerce could not be if men were unwilling to run risks and take chances. What inventions, think you, should we have if scientists did not now and then take a gambling chance in their experiments? The scholar who writes a book and the publisher who brings it out take a chance; the physician takes a chance every day of life; so does the lawyer, the business man, the soldier, sailor, miner, policeman, detective, the bridge builder, the street cleaner, the fireman, the farmer, the factory man—indeed, it would be very difficult to find a trade or occupation in which the element of risk does not exist.

"I have tried to show in a few words that gambling pervades the warp and woof of our whole existence; that it is found among all peoples and in all ages, and that without it in some degree there could be no evolution or progress. This country, for example, would still be in the hands of the Indians if Columbus had not taken a big gambling chance; nor would it be larger than New England if the doughty pioneers had not risked their lives and blazed a way westward and across the Rockies. But why take any more chances than you have to. DON'T GAMBLE—BUY FROM HIM.

EVERYONE LIKES THIS COLD CURE

"Pape's Cold Compound" Ends a Cold or Grippe in a Few Hours.

Your cold will break and all grippe misery end after taking a dose of "Pape's Cold Compound" every two hours until three doses are taken.

It promptly opens clogged-up nostrils and air passages in the head, stops nasty discharges of nose running, relieves sick headache, dizziness, feverishness, sore throat, sneezing, soreness and stiffness.

Don't stay stuffed-up! Quit blowing and sniffling! Ease your throbbing head—nothing else in the world gives such prompt relief as "Pape's Cold Compound," which costs only 25 cents at any drug store. It acts without assistance, tastes nice, and causes no inconvenience. Accept no substitute. Advertisement.

A Sure Way To End Dandruff

There is one sure way that has never failed to remove dandruff at once, and that is to dissolve it, then you destroy it entirely. To do this, just get about four ounces of plain, common liquid arvon from any drug store (this is all you will need), apply it at night when retiring; use enough to moisten the scalp and rub it in gently with the finger tips.

By morning, most if not all, of your dandruff will be gone, and three or four more applications will completely dissolve and entirely destroy every single sign and trace of it, no matter how much dandruff you may have.

GINGEROLE ENDS BACKACHE AND HEADACHE INSTANTLY

Rub It On Freely: It Won't Hurt. Stops Rheumatic Agony and Reduces Painful Joints

For miles around, people are coming for GINGEROLE. The report of its power to stop all aches and pains almost instantly and to end all soreness and lameness speedily has had its effect and the supply of 25 cent boxes at the drug stores is going like hot cakes.

Thousands use it for neuralgia, for lumbago, neuritis, for sore throat and chest colds. Nothing like it for sore, inflamed feet or burning bunions, corns or callouses. A big package for 25 cents on money back if dissatisfied plan. But be sure you ask for and get the original GINGEROLE. All first-class druggists supply it.—Advertisement.

KEEP LOOKING YOUNG

It's Easy—If You Know Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets

The secret of keeping young is to feel young—to lift a mustache to your liver and bowels—there's no need of having a sallow complexion—dark rings under your eyes—pimples—a bilious look in your face—dull eyes with no sparkle. Your doctor will tell you ninety per cent of all sickness comes from inactive bowels and liver.

Dr. Edwards, a well-known physician in Ohio, perfected a vegetable compound mixed with olive oil, to act on the liver and bowels, which he gave to his patients for years.

Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets, the substitute for calomel, act gentle in their action, yet always effective. They bring about that exuberance of spirit, that natural buoyancy which should be enjoyed by everyone, by toning up the liver and clearing the system of impurities.

You will know Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets by their olive color. 10c and 25c per box. All druggists.

STEPHAN'S

SUNLIGHT IN GARDENS.

No amount of fertilizer, watering and cultivation will make up for the absence of sunlight in a garden. Home gardeners before attempting for the first time to use a back yard or other space should consider carefully how many hours a day any part of the yard is in shadow from buildings, fences or trees. At least five hours of sunlight a day are necessary for a successful garden. The more sunlight they get the better it is for most vegetables. For this reason it is bad practice to put plants of low habit between tall growing plants which will shade them for the greater part of the day. As a rule foliage crops such as lettuce, spinach and kale do fairly well in partial shade, but even these must have sunshine two or three hours a day. In laying out the garden therefore use shadier parts for such plants and reserve the sunny spaces for those which must have plenty of sunlight to grow any fruit properly.

THE FOOD CRISIS.

Plant a Million More Gardens. By CHARLES LATHROP PACK, President National Emergency Food Garden Commission, Maryland building, Washington.

The work of the national emergency food garden commission aims to assist in making food more plentiful in villages, towns and cities. There are a great many associations and clubs throughout the country interested in school gardens, home gardens, back yard gardens, vacant lot gardens, flower gardens, etc.

We believe that this year all these associations and a great many other people should plant food gardens to a greater extent than ever before, and flowers should in many cases make way for vegetables.

The national emergency food garden commission is undertaking to intensify this sort of planting by using in a large way the machinery that already exists, by giving greater publicity and efficiency to the movement and by coordinating the work.

The Americanization of our country is proceeding at a swift rate and with the utmost thoroughness. Patriotic words are empty air. Patriotic acts alone will help. Plant a food garden and do your part toward the economic victory.

We expect to induce more than 1,000,000 young people, women and elderly men this year to plant a food garden who have not done so before. This alone should add much more than $250,000,000 to the food value of this season's crop. Those who have made such gardens before should increase their efforts.

You are anxious to do something patriotic because you feel that way. You want to help your country. You can plant a vegetable food garden. Are you doing so? Start now!

RADISHES AND LETTUCE.

Attractive Additions to the Table of Any Household.

[Prepared by United States department of agriculture.]

Lettuce does not withstand heat well and thrives therefore in the early spring or late autumn. In order to have the leaves crisp and tender it is necessary to force the growth of the plant. The usual method of growing the plant for home use is to sow the seeds broadcast in the bed and to remove the leaves as rapidly as they become large enough for use. It is better, however, to sow the seeds in rows fourteen to sixteen inches apart, and when the plants come up to thin them to the desired distance. With the heading type this should be about twelve inches apart. This will result in the formation of rather compact heads, and the entire plant may then be cut for use.

Radishes are so hardy that they may be grown through the winter in cold frames in the latitude of Washington and farther south in the open ground. In the north they require hotbeds, but can be sown in the open ground as soon as the soil is moderately warm. They should be planted in drills twelve to eighteen inches apart and thinned slightly as soon as the plants are up. On a quick, rich soil some of the earlier varieties can be matured in from three to four weeks after planting. If the plants are allowed to remain long in the open ground the roots lose their crispness and delicate flavor, and in order to secure a constant supply successive plantings should be made every two weeks. One ounce of radish seed is sufficient to plant 100 feet of row. A large percentage of the seed germinates, and if the sowing is done carefully later thinning may be unnecessary. The first radishes to appear may be pulled as soon as they are of sufficient size, and this will leave enough room for those that are a little later. The plant is not suited to hot weather, but should be planted in the early spring and late autumn.

To be a rising young man it isn't necessary to be self-inflated.

SAYS HE MADE A FINE INVESTMENT

New Lexington Man Tells What Tania Did For Him.

HE PUTS ON NEW WEIGHT.

"I hadn't been able to sleep for years before I began taking Tania," said G. C. Troy, well known resident of New Lexington.

"My whole digestive system seemed to be out of order, and my arms and legs often felt as though pins and needles were being stuck in them."

"My appetite was poor, and the food I ate didn't seem to do me any good. I was constipated and frequently had to use laxatives. Gas would form on my stomach and make me belch and feel stuffy."

"I heard how Tania helped people who seemed to be troubled about the same as I was, and I decided to try it. Well, sir, it seemed to take hold of my case right off. My appetite has improved so much that I can eat and enjoy three good meals every day. I have gained considerable weight and feel better now than I have for years. I sleep eight hours every night and get up feeling well and rested."

"Tania is certainly all that is claimed for it, and one of the best investments I ever made."

Tania may be obtained in Newark at W. A. Erman's drug store and in the following nearby towns: Alexandria, C. M. Gilmore; Pataskala, J. R. Strine; Granville, W. P. Ullman.—Advertisement.

Amusements

ALHAMBRA.

Tonight. The method of grafting in prisons is graphically depicted in the Jesse L. Lasky production "The Prison Without Walls," in which the noted Lasky-Paramount star, Wallace Reid and Myrtle Stedman will be seen at the Alhambra tonight, supported by a splendid cast. Some of the methods of smuggling in drugs to the prisoners are shown in the production.

Wednesday and Thursday.

When Miss Clayton read the scenario of "The Web of Desire," her new starring vehicle, she remarked: "This is a strong play. I am sure that my friends will like to see me in it." This latest Brady-Made production will be shown at the Alhambra theatre on Wednesday and Thursday. Supporting Miss Clayton is Rockcliffe Fellowes. Dear little Madge Evans is also seen in this picture.

AUDITORIUM.

"Fair and Warmer."

The "cocktail scene" is what the major part of its admirers describe as the most excruciatingly funny of all the funny parts of Avery Hopwood's "Fair and Warmer," the widely heralded farce which Selwyn & Company will again present at the Auditorium theatre tonight. "Fair and Warmer" is indisputably the brilliant Avery Hopwood at his best. Two upright and respectable persons, the one a husband far too good for human nature's daily entertainment, and the other a little wife whose experience with life has been largely got from the end of mother's apron string, to their astonishment find that their respective spouses have been deceiving them, and having more joy out of life than can be found at the family hearthstones.

"The Wager."

In "The Wager," the great Metro-Rolle production which will be seen at the Auditorium tomorrow, Emily Stevens had a rare opportunity to show her tremendous emotional power as an actress. The play is filled with powerful dramatic situations. In one of these Daisy Doyle is induced by Police Commissioner Stone to relieve a jeweler of gems, so that Stone may win a wager.

In addition to the above clever photoplay, the Auditorium will show both tomorrow and Thursday, the second episode of "Patria" with Mrs. Vernon Castle. The second episode shows the arrival of Patria and Captain Parr at the old Channing residence in New York, to find that Peter Ripley, Patria's guardian, has been murdered by Japanese spies.

"War Brides."

The Auditorium will offer the biggest and greatest picture feature so far shown in Newark in Mmc. Nazimova, who will be seen in the Eight reel Herbert Brenon production "War Brides."

"War Brides" introduces the great Russian tragedienne, Nazimova, to moving picture audiences. It is taken from her greatest stage success. The photodrama begins with a series of pictures of the lives of peasants, and their hard struggle for existence.

"War Brides" will be seen Thursday, Friday and Saturday of this week.

"Tango Queens."

With all the reports and rumors about the scarcity of chorus girls it should be a welcome announcement to patrons of the Auditorium theatre where the "Tango Queens" is the offering next Monday, that when the producer finished rehearsals and turned the show over to the management for the season he announced that it was the best beauty chorus he had ever rehearsed for this organization.

A man who is naturally cold-blooded should get married. A wife would be apt to keep him in hot water.

Enjoyed Trip.
Joseph Kuster and W. J. Hohl, Jr. have returned from a trip through Kansas and Oklahoma. Mr. Kuster was impressed with the wonderful era of prosperity which they have been enjoying, and stated that in a number of Oklahoma towns with a population much less than our own, he found every street paved and as wide as our main street, with not an overhead wire in sight and cluster lights in all parts of the town.

Mr. Bowers immediately called up several hardware dealers in the city and they stated that no such firm as the General Hardware Company operated in Pittsburgh. He then looked up a rating book and found that no such firm was given in the Smoky City. He next called on Chief Sheridan and reported and calling at another printing office found that the fellow had ordered a number of cards printed for C. C. Hoy, General Hardware of all kinds, 29 South Third street, Lima, O.

A plain clothes man was detailed to work on the case with Mr. Bowers and the fellow was seen shortly afterwards in front of a newspaper office reading the bulletins. He was taken to the patrol station and later to the city prison, where he confessed to Chief Sheridan that he knew he was in serious trouble and informed him that his name was Roy A. Jones, aged 32, of 962 South Champion avenue, Columbus, O. that he was a son of the late "Long Tom" Jones of Fallsbury township, who was known as the giant of the Barnum circus. He also has relatives in this city.

He admitted to the chief that he had been in the south but that he had never operated on merchants in this city. He stated that at the present time he was in trouble at Columbus, but that he had been given the opportunity to make good. He said that love of fine clothes, luxuries, and living beyond his income started him to work the check system. He has operated for some time and said now that the exposure had come he realized that his wife would spurn him and he was ready to take the consequences for his dishonesty. He will be arraigned before Mayor Bigbee tomorrow. In the meantime Chief Sheridan will endeavor to locate some of the cities which he has been working.

GOITRE DISSOLVED
FOR MANY IN COLUMBUS

Sorbol Chemist Here Tomorrow

The Columbus Dispatch publishes: Before using Sorbol-Quadruple, my speech and breathing were greatly affected. It hurt me to turn my head. I could only lie on my right side. I can now lie in any position with ease and my speech and breathing are perfectly free. After 13 days use, my neck was reduced 1/2 inch. I am always glad to tell any one about my experience with Sorbol-Quadruple. (Signed) Mrs. A. A. K. Hutchins, 270 So. Zettler St., Columbus, Ohio.

Mrs. Frank Beard, 1610 Karo St., Springfield, O., says: "My daughter dissolved a 1 1/2 inch goitre four years ago with Sorbol-Quadruple and it has never shown any signs of returning."

It only took 1/2 a bottle. She had the goitre for 5 years and it was making her so nervous and breaking her general health. When the goitre disappeared, she regained her normal good health."

Sorbol-Quadruple is applied externally and will not stain skin or clothing. It comes in small bottles which contain enough to dissolve most cases.

T. J. Evans, Druggist, East Side Square has succeeded in getting the chemist who discovered Sorbol-Quadruple to come to Newark.

He will be at his store to explain the use of Sorbol-Quadruple tomorrow, April 11, from 10 to 11 and 1 to 4 p. m. This will be his only appearance in Newark.—Adv.

SUSPECT ADMITS HE'S IN BAD; WAS PLANNING FRAUD

One of the slickest check workers in the country has possibly been apprehended in this city, through the suspicions aroused in the mind of Walter J. Bowers of The Advocate Printing company.

Early today a young man walked into the business office of the Advocate and ordered a check book for The General Hardware Company of Pittsburgh, Pa., on the Fourth National bank of that city. The young man left the order and then left the office after stating that he had given the order in Newark on account of his firm being unable to secure the printing of the book at this time in Pittsburgh.

Mr. Bowers immediately called up several hardware dealers in the city and they stated that no such firm as the General Hardware Company operated in Pittsburgh. He then looked up a rating book and found that no such firm was given in the Smoky City. He next called on Chief Sheridan and reported and calling at another printing office found that the fellow had ordered a number of cards printed for C. C. Hoy, General Hardware of all kinds, 29 South Third street, Lima, O.
